

Road Map for Surveillance and Monitoring of HIV Drug Resistance in the Western Pacific Region: 2014-2018

This Road Map provides a plan for specific and coordinated action to address the potential threat of HIV drug resistance emergence in countries in the Region. In total, approximately US$ 5.69 million is required to implement the strategic approaches of the Road Map. While some priority actions are already under way, close collaboration among governments, national stakeholders, international partners and donors is required for successful implementation.
