

Cancer de mama, manual de tratamiento psicologico / Breast Cancer, Psychological Treatment Manual (Spanish Edition)

En los últimos años, la incidencia del cáncer de mama ha aumentado espectacularmente, lo cual ha llevado a los profesionales de la salud a intentar comprender en mayor profundidad tanto los aspectos médicos como los psicológicos de esta devastadora enfermedad. A partir de ahí, el presente volumen, publicado originalmente por la Division of Independent Practice of the American Psychological Association, está concebido para educar e implicar a los terapeutas y a los consejeros médicos en el tratamiento psicológico de las pacientes y sus familias. La obra responde a las inquietudes de todas las personas implicadas, pues las autoras se dedican a examinar los factores psicológicos, sociales y conductuales que pueden influir en la morbilidad y la mortalidad del cáncer en cuestión. Y el resultado es un libro dirigido por igual a psicólogos, psiquiatras, enfermeras y demás profesionales de la salud mental. Como ha dicho M. J. Higgs en la revista Kirkus Reviews, este librito es una valiosa contribución al tratamiento holístico de las pacientes con cáncer de mama, de modo que no solo deben leerlo los estudiantes de psicología, sino también todos aquellos que se dediquen al tema desde una perspectiva interdisciplinaria. Felicidades a los autores. Compilación de Sandra Haber.
